You've probably not heard of Autochair, however don't let that put you off, we operate in a niche market and while you don't know us now, one day as you inevitably get older you may come to rely on one of the products we produce.

With this in mind though, we are a business that has doubled in size again and again in recent years.

We operate and excel within a growth market and are the market leaders in our area of expertise.

What do we do?

We adapt cars so that people with mobility issues can get themselves and their mobility devices into and out of their car. We enable people to maintain their independence and the use of their car. Our products are genuinely liberating and transformative for their users, which is why 94% of our customers would recommend us to their friends.

Due to the forecasted continued growth of our business, we are seeking to recruit Production Support Operatives to join our team.
